

LASSUI DISCRPTION

The Lassui are fairly low tech, the equivalent of their tech in human terms would be per-industrial revolution. They do have metal weapons and are beginning to utilize their world's natural resources. However, the lack of a desire to explore their world may hold them back from becoming a space fairing race.

What tech they do have, they operate in a precise and expert manner. If they were taught how to use a keyboard, they'd all be the fastest typist any human has ever met. They have long, impossibly quick fingers and move with an easy grace. They are built like long, hairy humans with a strong jaw and sharp, but small teeth.

Mentally, on average, they are on par with humans, but their high end is a little less.

Psychologically, the Lassui are introverted and a little closed, but nice folks and willing to work as a unit to accomplish a task.
